ABOUT THIS WINERY

Altaland is a wine dedicated to highlighting the extraordinary viticulture and cultural diversity of Argentina and its regions. Colourful flowers and herbs line windows and gardens, and everything from the food to the wines is spicy and aromatic. Altaland is the flavour of a limitless Argentina.

TASTING NOTES

Argentina's Torrontés grape produces a highly-aromatic dry white wine with dazzling aromas of honeysuckle, orange blossoms, lavender, geranium and rose petals. On the palate, these wines are crisp with bright, and refreshing citrus and tropical fruit notes along with great minerality. Some boast a lingering, spicy finish.

VITICULTURAL NOTES

An exceptional vintage, intense sunlight and lack of rainfall prevented cryptogamic diseases. There was some rainfall at the beginning of harvest, but it remained dry during February and March with good thermal amplitude, which allowed for gradual ripening until optimum levels were achieved. Catena vineyard, planted on the Eastern slope, allowed for optimal aeration and sunlight exposure.
